My Emphasis: Changing on Plant Collection In 20 years
Plant collections are growing very fast at Beijing Botanical Garden during the past 20 years due to the economy growth in China.

It is very grateful for us to have the opportunity to learn so much from the global botanical garden community, including Europe, North America, Korea, Japan, and etc.

As a botanist or a horticulturist, we might be able to face the plant biodiversity easily, but when I meet the huge and complicated diversity of the public, I feel very nervous.
